

Heron Hospice Golf Classic Celebrates 5th Year with Community Spirit and Fun on the Fairways

Delta's "most fun day on the local charity golf circuit" returned on Friday, September 5, as the 5th Annual Heron Hospice Golf Classic teed off at Tsawwassen Springs Golf Club. The event brought together golfers, sponsors, volunteers, and nearly 200 banquet guests for a day of sport, connection, and compassion—all in support of end-of-life and grief programs offered free of charge by Heron Hospice Society of Delta.

Through the generosity of community business partners, virtually every hole on the course featured prizes, contests, or giveaways, adding to the energy and excitement that made this tournament a favourite among local golfers. Following the afternoon of play, guests gathered for a buffet dinner, live and silent auctions, and a lively program emceed by Tsawwassen recording artist—and Optimist columnist—Warren Dean Flandez.

The Heron Hospice Golf Classic raised just over $88,700, which will directly fund Heron Hospice's counselling, grief support groups, and community outreach programs across Delta. Even modest contributions raised through the tournament translate into meaningful, hands-on support for local families — where every dollar has an outsized impact.

Heron Hospice extends heartfelt thanks to its presenting sponsor, The Witt Family, as well as to its major sponsors—the Delta Agricultural Society, the Espiritu Foundation, Thomas Investments Ltd., and Graham Construction—whose generosity helped make the tournament possible. The Society also recognizes the tireless efforts of its dedicated team of volunteers, whose enthusiasm and hard work brought every detail of the event to life.
